

The Shepherd

"If there is anything I feel I have been a terrible failure at, it is being a shepherd."

The journey begins not with confidence, but with the honest admission of weakness. This vulnerability becomes the very ground where strength is made perfect.

The Encounter with Joy

“I’ve come to show you this, and to give you this.”

The Source of True Authority

The cloak you wear for grace,
but this you use for authority.

“Your purpose is to lead them to Him. He is their green pasture. He is their living water. He is their rest. He is their life.”

The Fruit of Intimacy

What I have is the joy of the Lord. This is not a gift, but fruit. It is the fruit of walking with the One who is the greatest desire of every
The closer you walk with Him the more joy you will have.

Finding the Living Water

*“With this staff, you can tap the ground and waters will flow.
You can even strike a rock, and waters will flow from it.”*

The Wisdom of the High Places

*"The higher you go, the slower you must go, because you will have to dig deeper for water...
It is here in the high places that those who are with you must learn to see and to go deeper for the waters of life."*

The Second Mentor

Where Enoch brought the warmth of God's joy, Elijah brings the weight of His truth. They are two sides of the same calling, and both must be understood.

The Eternal Echo

“What you become in your life on earth will be who you are forever.”

Love, The Greatest Treasure

“Those who are known as the great ones on the earth are not always well-known in heaven.
Those who are known as the great ones in heaven are those who love the most.”

The Complete Model

“To do this as you are called to do it, you must become more like Enoch than me... Both Enoch and I are models of the prophets that will come forth in these times, but we are that model together.”

The Lesson Realized

“The watchmen found water. It was right under our feet.”

An artistic illustration of Jesus standing in a desert landscape, holding a wooden staff. He is wearing a white robe with a blue sash. Behind him is a large, bright sun or moon, creating a halo effect. In the foreground, a diverse group of people, including men and women of various ages, are looking up at him with expressions of hope and attention. The background shows rolling desert hills under a warm, golden light.

“I do have something to tell you that can help guide you the rest of your life.”

The Shepherd's Message

Point 1

Walk with God

True leadership is not about your own strength, but about leading others closer to Him, the source of all life.

Point 2

Pursue Love

Joy is the fruit of that walk, but Love is the eternal measure of your soul and the greatest treasure in creation.

Point 3

Find the Water

The source of spiritual life is always present, even in the highest and hardest places. You must learn to go deeper and teach others to do the same.
